IN HAWAII'S YOUNG DAY

Pono Sisterhood Will Give Tableaux for Charity.

The sisters of the Hawaii Pono Society will give a grand concert in the Opera House on Wednesday evening, Nov. 28, for the benefit of poor Hawaiians.

This will be the second concert given by the sisterhood, the first having proved such a great success that it created a popular demand for its repetition. The program presented at the first concert has been greatly improved upon and strengthened for Wednesday night's affair.

For this occasion only talented Hawaiian vocalists who are rarely heard in public will take part.

Oldtime hulas and picturesque tableaux participated in by former retainers of King Kalakaua and Queen Liliuokalani, will be among the attractions which will combine to make an entertaining and instructive evening.

The tableaux will depict historical events in the reign of Lonoikamakahiki and Kalkilani, king and queen of the island of Hawaii in the sixteenth century, with characters of that period. The program will be as follows:

LIFE IMPRISONMENT INSTEAD OF BANGING

Kelike Kaawaloa, who was convicted May 24 of murder in the first degree for the killing of his wife or mistress, Virginia Moeluh, at Kakaako on December 2, 1905, was granted a new trial by Judge De Bolt on motion of Avon H. Crook, the assigned counsel for defendant. He then pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced to imprisonment for life. In granting the motion Judge De Bolt stated that, on account of the brutality of the defendant, he regarded the verdict as just when rendered, but further consideration had brought him around to the view that premeditation did not appear clearly enough to warrant conviction in the first degree. Though there was no eyewitness to the homicide the circumstantial evidence against Kaawaloa was conclusive of his guilt.

DEFENDED HIS RICE

Kee Long Kills a Man at a Waipahu Mill.

Kee Long, watchman at a Waipahu rice plantation, was brought to town yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Fernandez, charged with the murder of another Chinaman. The tragedy took place early yesterday morning.

The rice had been harvested and bundles of it were lying in and about the sheds. There had been attempts to steal from the piled-up stuff and Kee Long had therefore kept a watchful eye on the property.

Three Chinese entered the premises with shoulder poles, the kind usually employed by Chinese in carrying anything from a tin pail to a bank safe. Kee Long came upon the trio and ordered them off the place. There was some resistance to this order, which developed into an attack upon Long. He procured a gun and fired it at one of his assailants, the charge taking effect in the fellow's knee. The wound was a bad one and during the forenoon the man died.

Dr. McDonald was summoned from Honolulu to make a post mortem examination of the body, and in the meantime Kee Long was arrested. On arriving in town Kee Long sent for R. W. Breckons, who was retained to defend him.

SING KEEPS GOOD COMPANY.

Ing Sing, whom Dr. Emerson, the police doctor, refused to have committed to the insane asylum, was run in again Saturday night on the old charge of supposed insanity. Ing has received considerable police attention lately, coming first into prominence by being hauled forth from under the Central Union church, where he had established living quarters. He was turned loose, next becoming a guest at the station by prowling around St. Louis College, one of the brothers laying the complaint. Having been thus refused by the Unionists and Roman Catholics, Ing decided to see what the Episcopalians would do for him and began loitering on the premises of Bishop Restarick, who also turned him over to the police. Ing has still the Salvation Army to fall back on and may also visit Thomas Prime and Pop Spitzer.

When Sing was reported on Saturday evening as prowling about Emma Square, Officer Sheldon went out and found him in the bandstand doing acrobatic stunts on a box. He was taken to the station and will probably be committed to the asylum today.

Ages ago one band of monkeys struck out for the plains in search of adventure, and these evolved into men; the others took to the woods and are monkeys yet.—The Philistine.
